TEE TECH PACK

3 styles, drawn by PJ. Every number came from a file or it says TBC. PJ's blank is the Shaka Wear SHGD; the women's blank is still a placeholder.

IF IT SAYS TBC, ASK. DON'T GUESS.

THE RULES

Every value came from a file, or it says TBC. The art facts are read straight from PJ's Illustrator file. Everything else waits for the blank maker, the printer, or PJ.

Print from the vector. The pictures in this pack are for reference. Films come from the .ai.

PJ signs every strike-off. Nothing runs without the three signatures on the last sheet of each style.

OPEN DECISIONS

SETTLE BEFORE FILMS

WHITE FILLS

The drawing has white filled shapes inside it: the clouds, the suit, the bike. On a white or cream shirt they disappear, so it prints as one ink. On any other color they either print white (a second ink) or go open and take the shirt color. Pick one before separations.

HARD EDGE

The clouds and the road run off the artboard on all four sides. Printed as it is, the graphic reads as a hard 9 × 12 in rectangle. Keep the rectangle, or PJ closes the edges.

LINE ON DARK SHIRTS

Black line disappears on a black shirt. A dark colorway needs a light line color, or this style stays on light shirts.

SIGNATURE SIZE

The signature sits center back just below the collar. Its width and how far down it sits are open. The viewer lets you try both; the numbers stay TBC until PJ signs off.

RGB TO SPOT

The file is RGB. Separations should convert the black to a spot ink before films.

GREY TONES

About 15% of the drawing is grey (building faces, windows, the cake's sides). A one-colour screen print can't print grey: convert the greys to halftone dots, print them as solid line colour, or drop them. Pick before separations.

PRINT SIZE

The art is 62 × 70 in in the file, so it prints scaled down: 12 in wide is about 19% of the file. The smallest detail (subway riders, windows, the rats) gets very small. Check a strike-off at actual size before settling the width or screen tiers.

TWO SIGNATURES

PJ's signature is drawn into the art (bottom right, by the cake plate) and also prints at the back neck. Keep both, or drop one.

WHITE FILLS

The buildings and the cake are white-filled shapes. On a cream or white shirt they disappear; on a colour they print white (a second ink) or go open and take the shirt colour. Pick one before separations.

PATCH OR TEE

The file is named PATCH ... BW SCREEN PRINT. This pack treats it as a front tee print (Michael, 2026-09-28).

SETTLE BEFORE FILMS

CHEST SIZE

The file has two small circles, 3 3/8 in and 2 3/4 in. Use one for every size, or the small one for XS/S and women's.

SIGNATURE COLOUR

The circles are one ink. The signature in the same ink keeps the whole tee one colour; in the colourway accent it's a second ink on the back.

GREY SKETCH LINES

Thin grey pencil-style lines sit inside the white letters (about 6% of the art). One colour can't print grey: print them solid in the ink, halftone them, or drop them.

VECTOR FILE

This is a PDF saved from Illustrator. Films should come from the .ai (Rules: print from the vector). Ask PJ for the .ai.

PLACEMENT

Left chest and back are starting points from standard placements, not from PJ. Confirm the chest position and the back drop on a strike-off.

How a colourway lands on this tee: shirt = body colour, print = the one ink on both circles (the letters are knocked out, so the shirt shows through), accent = PJ's signature at the back neck. The 3.0 page tries any shirt colour and any ink. Source: PJ Sydney Colour Sheet (draft), shirts mapped to Shaka Wear SHGD colours (Pantone from the maker). Line and signature hex are starting points; ink Pantone TBC.
